"I applaud and support the efforts to create a lasting memorial to honor those 600,000 Americans and all Coalition Forces who served in Operation Desert Storm as well as remember the almost 300 who did not return home. This will ensure that Desert Storm is not just a footnote in our nation's history, but rather the place of prominence and respect which it rightfully deserves."

James A. Baker III, United States Secretary of State

2015 - 2016 marks the 25th Anniversary of Desert Shield / Desert Storm when the world came together to expel a ruthless dictator and his armies from the small, defenseless country of Kuwait.

Just last year, the United States Congress and Senate approved The National Desert Storm War Memorial to be built in Washington, D.C. There was overwhelming support of the legislation in that no tax dollars will be used in its construction and the memorial represents a time when the world came together for a noble cause.
